

PEC Regulating the Engineering Profession

Pakistan Journal of Engineering is an official journal of Pakistan Engineering Council. The scientific research outcomes and innovative contributions are better disseminated through technical and research journals. PEC being a regulator and promoter of quality higher engineering education, has a role to play for the quality research and innovation, especially to support the industry towards indigenous solutions and technology advancement. With this intent, PEC has taken an initiative by launching a research and technical journal covering engineering and technology domain with emphasis on knowledge advancement and creativity through genuine research. It is a technical research journal covering the entire engineering regime with major focus on genuine research contribution in the advancement of knowledge and innovative solutions.

Scope

The journal covers technical, management and policy related topics in all disciplines and sub-sectors of engineering. In order to cover the wider-base of engineering sector, the journal may be split into different streams and/ or sequels. This will help enhancing frequency of the journal as well as the contributors.

Mode of Operation

It is an online bi-annual journal with open-access; facilitating online access from paper submission till publication. Submissions are welcomed towards knowledge advancement and innovative solutions. Visit us at www.journal.pec.org.pk.

Governance Structure

- The journal is operated under the guidance of an Advisory Committee and Editorial Board, comprising eminent international and national experts and researchers.
- Renowned Panel of Experts in all sectors and engineering disciplines.
- PEC Headquarter Islamabad is the Secretariat for the Journal.
